KAVESH, Miriam (Heifetz) 104, of Canton, on Tuesday, January 6, 2015. Beloved wife of the late Max Edward Kavesh. Loving mother of Dr. William Kavesh and Susan Kavesh (Julius Kohanyi). Adored grandmother of Meira & Aaron Kavesh. Born February 15, 1910 in Lawrence, MA. Mrs. Kavesh quit high school to support her older brother through medical school and nurture her two younger sisters. Despite the lack of formal education, she developed an eclectic interest in scholarship of all sorts, reading the classics and taking the trolley to Boston for courses at Harvard Extension School. She became an avid bicyclist and was an early member of the American Youth Hostels. In 1936, she traveled with AYH to Europe to bicycle and ski-but was advised to conceal her last name in the prevailing anti-Semitic atmosphere. She married Max Kavesh in 1940 and moved to Manchester, N.H. where she became a homemaker and raised two children, leaving Manchester in 1995 to live in a retirement community, Orchard Cove in Canton, MA, several years after Max's death. There she thrived on good books, lectures, classical music, and the admiration of the Orchard Cove staff. Services were held at Levine Chapels, BROOKLINE MA; burial followed in the Manchester Hebrew Cemetery, Manchester, NH.

Julius Kohanyi

Author and Filmmaker Julius Kohanyi grew up in Kelowna, B.C., Hungary, and Toronto. He has written and directed over forty films and won numerous international awards. They include the Gold Medal at Houston's International Film Festival, the Hugo Award for Best Children's Entertainment Film in Chicago, and Special Screenings at the Royal Ontario Museum and the Museum of Modern Art in New York City. Mr. Kohanyi has published THE RAD TRILOGY: Book One: "RAD and the quest for Geminus" and Book Two: "RAD and the Circus Gambit". He has recently released Book Three of THE RAD TRILOGY: "RAD and the Chili Pepper Ploy". Julius is often inspired to write about children who overcame life's obstacles, as he did. He lives in Toronto with his wife, Susan Kavesh, who is a high school teacher.

Susan Kavesh appears to have a brother, William, who owns an empty lot on Groveton St. in Manchester, NH.
